A GUIDE TO CARE FOR
Mirror & Oak

MAINTAINING YOUR FURNITURE
When properly cared for, our mirror and oak pieces are incredibly durable and will age beautifully over time. Clean weekly with an extra-soft, dry or damp cloth, sponge, or chamois. Always wipe in the direction of the wood grain. Do not use harsh chemicals, ammonia-based cleaners, or abrasives to clean.

TO BE EXPECTED
Mirror is hand antiqued and natural variation is to be expected. Oak is a natural wood, and grain pattern will vary.

SPOT CLEANING
Wipe spilled liquids immediately before they run into the seams and soak into the wood finish. This will prevent severe problems, such as waterlogging and glass panel imbalance. To remove dirt and fingerprints, use a mild cleaner or soap with a soft cloth.

KEEP IN MIND...

Wood is a natural material and can be affected by the elements. Exposure to extreme humidity or dryness may cause the wood to split or warp, and direct sunlight may darken or lighten its color. Wax-based oils can darken the finish when freshly applied and additional color variations can occur once the oil absorbs. Wax can leave the finish looking like a coating has been applied. The use of coasters and trivets will help protect the surface from direct contact with liquid or heat. Always use felt pads on objects (especially in ceramic and metal materials) placed directly on the surface to avoid scratching. Consider the object's weight and the thickness of the mirror before placing any items on the surface to avoid cracking.
